Introduction to Theory of Change

Wednesday 7th February 12-1.30pm on MS Teams

Following feedback from the popular workshop on Social Value held in November, Gemma Finnegan is returning to Worcestershire to lead this introductory webinar on Theory of Change.

A Theory of Change is a specific and measurable description of a social change that forms the basis for planning, ongoing decision-making and evaluation. Don't miss this opportunity to learn a tool that can help amplify the impact of your organisation.

This webinar is led by Gemma Finnegan, Intelligence, Impact & Evaluation Lead for 2 Cornish charities – Cornwall Rural Community Charity and Cornwall Voluntary Sector Forum.

Introduction to Co-production

Wednesday 13th March 12-2pm on MS Teams

This session will introduce principles for co-production approaches, its opportunities and barriers. You will have an opportunity to reflect on what you currently do and what your organisation can do in the future to ensure further opportunities for true co-production.

Co-production brings people with lived experience together with people who design and deliver services, to work collectively to review, design and improve things - in a nutshell : 'people working together to make things better.'

This webinar is for you if you're curious about ways of involving more voices in your service design. You might be in a role that leads and develop initiatives, a decision maker or someone who may be involved directly in co-production.

The webinar is led by Vicky Thomson from Every One, a Lincolnshire based charity that delivers person-centred services and projects for carers and people that are cared for.
